Methodology

Dimensions and Indicators: The Scorecard measures LTSS system performance using 26 indicators, grouped into five dimensions:

Affordability and Access: includes the relative affordability of private pay LTSS, the proportion of individuals with private long-term care insurance, the reach of the Medicaid safety net and the Medicaid LTSS safety net to people with disabilities who have modest incomes, and the ease of navigating the LTSS system.

Choice of Setting and Provider: includes the balance between institutional services and HCBS, the extent of participant direction, and the supply and availability of alternatives to nursing homes.

Quality of Life and Quality of Care: includes level of support, life satisfaction, and employment of people with disabilities living in the community, and indicators of quality in nursing homes.

Support for Family Caregivers: includes legal and system supports available in states and localities, the extent to which registered nurses are able to delegate health maintenance tasks to non-family members, and aspects of caregiver well-being.

Effective Transitions: includes measures of hospitalization and institutionalization that should be minimized in a high-performing LTSS system.

A Las Vegas HEALS PERSPECTIVE

CEO

What is on the horizon for health care in Las Vegas?

Las Vegas is on a journey to become the most globally recognized destination for health & wellness travel, commonly known as medical tourism. Several months back, Las Vegas HEALS, Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (LVCVA), Las Vegas Global Economic Alliance (LVGEA) and the UNLV College of Hotel Administration developed a regional strategic plan, identifying a set of key opportunities and recommendations. The region and the industry are perfectly aligned to develop Las Vegas as a regional center of excellence.

Southern Nevada will soon be home to four medical schools including the new UNLV School of Medicine, Roseman University College of Medicine, Touro University School of Medicine and University of Nevada School of Medicine. Graduate medical education expansion is well underway with new physician residency and fellowship programs being developed for future graduates of our medical schools. Las Vegas will soon be growing a physician workforce to not only take care of its own, but also take care of medical and wellness travelers from around the World.

The Las Vegas Medical District, the future home of the UNLV School of Medicine, and Henderson Healthcare Corridor, home to the new Union Village and Henderson Hospital, will become healthcare destinations for local residents and medical travelers alike. Aligning our physicians, nurses and allied health professionals with the Las Vegas' hospitality industry will redefine how health care is delivered and will ultimately affect regional and global change.

Healthcare is a top priority for Nevada, and Las Vegas. We have a plan, the talent, ambition and infrastructure necessary to become a global leader in this critical industry cluster for our region.
